

PEER NAVIGATION PROGRAM

FORCE's Peer Navigation Program provides personalized phone support from a trained volunteer who has a similar background to yours and understands the decisions you are facing about hereditary cancer. Your volunteer will share an expert reviewed resource guide to help you find helpful tools, research studies, clinical trials, financial assistance, insurance appeal templates and so much more.

This program is completely confidential and free for adults with Lynch syndrome (EPCAM, MLH1, MSH2, MSH6, PMS2) or an inherited mutation in BRCA1, BRCA2, ATM, CHEK2, PALB2, PTEN and other genes or who tested negative but have a strong family history of cancer.

IS FORCE'S PEER NAVIGATION PROGRAM RIGHT FOR YOU?

- Are you considering genetic testing?
- Have you tested positive for a genetic mutation that increases your risk of hereditary breast, colorectal, endometrial, melanoma, ovarian, pancreatic and prostate cancer?
- Have you been diagnosed with hereditary cancer?
- Do you feel alone?
- Do you feel pressure to quickly learn and understand the options available to manage your cancer risk or treatment?
- Do you want to obtain information that could empower you to make important decisions with your healthcare providers?

GET MATCHED FOR PERSONALIZED SUPPORT

Fill out our short form at facingourrisk.org/pnp to request to be matched by:

- Your genetic mutation
- Type of cancer
- Risk management
- Type of surgery
- Fertility options
- Geography
- Age
- And much more

PARTICIPANT REVIEWS

"reduced my anxiety about an upcoming surgery"

"was incredibly validating, helpful and focused in ways I haven't found anywhere else"

"surprised how quickly I was able to connect with someone who had similar demographics and diagnoses – it was really comforting and empowering"

"no number of doctors can compare to connecting with individuals who have actually been in your shoes"